ABOUT THE CITY

SEVERAL PEOPLE IN TOWN WISHING TO INVEST.

A NUMBER AT THE HOTELS

Looking After a New System of Fire Alarm—Mayor Evans Has Several Cases Before Him—The Thermometer Yesterday 95 in the Shade.

Mr. T. C. Blair is in Southwest Virginia.

Mr. T. W. Spindle, of Christiansburg, is registered at the Continental Hotel.

Mr. J. T. Hall, of the Times staff, returned yesterday from a pleasant visit to Floyd Courthouse.

Rev. Richard McIlwain, superintendent of Hampden-Sydney College, is stopping at Hotel Felix.

Miss Agnes Calahan, of Lynchburg, is visiting her friend Miss Rose Hilbert, No. 113 Jefferson street.

Dr. J. H. Wyatt, of Staunton, who is largely interested in Roanoke, is registered at Hotel Roanoke.

Mr. W. E. Lindsey, editor of the Virginia Manufacturer, published at Buchanan, Va., is registered at Hotel Felix.

The thermometer yesterday registered 98 degrees in the shade. Simultaneously the breezes stopped breezing and the sun only ran its course.

The Norfolk and Western Railroad Company paid off its various employees in this city yesterday, and there after the pay car left for the western divisions.

Mr. Luther Ridgeway, a young man well known in this city, died at Radford yesterday morning, and his remains will be taken to Lynchburg, his former home, for interment.

The Vigilant Fire Company would be under many obligations if the finder would return the nickel-plated wheel cap which was recently lost off the fire engine of this company.

Mr. Charles Cummings, son of S. C. Cummings, esq., of Shippensburg, Pa., well known throughout Southwest Virginia as one of the largest stock dealers in Pennsylvania, is in the city, looking around with a view to investment.

Mr. Cummings' father is expected to stay.

There were a great many trivial cases before Mayor Evans yesterday morning, and he administered justice and presided from 9 a. m. until dinner time. To those who have no conscientious scruples the jail must be a pleasant resort, as even Old Sol cannot penetrate its thick stone wall.

The Vigilant Fire Company will test several electric fire alarm systems in the near future, and as soon as they decide on the most practicable, the council will be petitioned for their adoption in the city. Roanoke City is large enough, and any step towards procuring a efficient fire department, will be a very wise one.

GLADE ADDITION.

A Beautiful and Convenient Location for Buildings.

No city in the South has grown with greater rapidity than has Roanoke, and probably not one is on a firmer foundation, considering its age. Roanoke swells and grows each day, and unlike most cities, does not grow in any one direction more than another, but is being rapidly built up on every side, north, east, south and west.

The influx of population over 380,000, has been enormous, and hundreds of buildings have gone up to supply the demand. There has been no lull in the erection of houses this winter, except that occasioned by the rain, and drive in what direction, you will hear the sound of the hammer and evidences of building meet your eye.

Hundreds who rented houses a few years ago pay taxes now, owning their dwellings, and the erection of residences is the best index to the growth of the city and the strongest assurance that the city is here to stay.

The homes that have been built here within the past year are, many of them, as handsome, artistic and expensive as can be found anywhere. To accommodate the ever increasing population, numerous additions have been laid off and the lots placed on the market. Among the many valuable properties hereabouts, none offer greater inducements as a place of residence than the Glade addition.

This property is situated just east of Glade creek and is traversed by the Vinton extension of the Roanoke street railway, which places it in direct communication with the central portion of the city, a person can live in that section, and if his place of business is in the upper part of the city, or even in the West End, he can take the street car and be ready for the day's work at the usual time. Every benefit of a suburban residence is obtained, without any of its discomforts.

The property is well drained and therefore healthy. It has been divided into lots by the laying off of wide streets and avenues. The view to be obtained from Glade addition is beautiful. On the east, towering hundreds of feet in the air, are the Blue Ridge mountains, while on the south the Roanoke river winds itself like a silver thread among the hills, forming one of the most beautiful bits of scenery anywhere in Southwest Virginia. One of the principal features about the Glade property is the easy terms upon which the lots can be gotten. The prices have been placed so low that it is within the power of every man to own his home. Messrs. William M. Yager & Co., are the agents for the company and they will take pleasure in giving any information concerning the property. Call on them at their office on South Jefferson street.

In Holland, Mich., C. J. Doesbury publishes the News, and in its columns strongly recommends Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil for coughs, colds, sore throat, catarrh and asthma.

Desirability of and Demands for Lots There.

As the summer advances much activity in building operations is noticed, and many new houses are in process of construction. This naturally makes the real estate market much firmer, and agents are correspondingly happy. Simmons & Co. have been doing a rushing business, one of the best since the firm was established. The East End property is changing hands very rapidly, and many new houses will be erected this season.

Among the prominent additions in the East End, is that of the Oak Ridge Land Company. The addition lies just east of Belmont and south of the East Side Land Company's property and adjoins the farms of Messrs. George Taylor and G. W. Carr.

This offers every inducement as a place of residence. It is removed from the business portion of the city and therefore gives a quiet suburban home, while at the same time it is near the dummy line and therefore quite convenient to the city.

The land is high and dry and has just enough slope to give it good drainage. Gas and water mains are being put in and new streets are being laid out. Everything is progressing rapidly.

Concurrence of Home Patronage.

No paper can be published without home patronage, and every one is interested in keeping up a home paper. If a railroad or factory is wanted, the newspapers are expected to work for it. If a public meeting is wanted for any purpose, the newspaper is called upon for a free notice. If any of the societies have a supper or reception of any kind, the newspaper is expected to give the necessary notice. The newspaper must puff the schools and everybody else to advance the interests of the business men of the place, and then give them a handsome notice when they pass away. And yet some of them do nothing to keep up a home newspaper.

Lying advertisements are and always will be failures in the long run. Pay as much attention to your advertising as you do to your other purchases and you will get equally satisfactory results.

Avoid superlatives, since constant use weakens their effect. Successful advertisers employ the simplest words and forms of expression.

It may be safely asserted that an advertisement possesses more value when it is first printed than it does on second appearance, and that it lessens in value as it grows stale; hence the importance of frequent changes.—J. Walter Thompson.

To discontinue an advertisement, says John Wanamaker, Philadelphia's great merchant, "is like taking down your sign. If you want to do business you must let the public know it. Standing advertisements are better and cheaper than reading notices. They look more substantial and business like and inspire confidence. I would as soon think of doing business without clerks as without advertising."
